ICE BREAKS IN MISSOURI RIVER;
TEMPORARY BRIDGE IS SWEEPED OUT;
MEN NARROWLY ESCAPE WITH LIVES

Several Thousand Dollars Loss Is Caused Foundation Company.
Contractors on New Bridge—First Time in Forty Years
Ice Has Broken in Similar Manner—Bridge
Work to Be Delayed

Ice broke in the Missouri river here Sunday afternoon, carrying away with it most of the temporary bridge built across the river by the Foundation Company, contractors in the Bismarck-Mandan vehicular bridge.

Several employees of the company, who were on the bridge when the ice began to give away, saved their lives by running to the shore.

Damage estimated at thousands of dollars was caused. Work on the bridge was set back several weeks.

Vigorous efforts on the part of the bridge force, which had warning of the breaking up, saved a loss which might have reached more than $50,000.

Within an hour or less after the ice broke here at 2:10 p. m. the river had risen 5 feet, 8 inches, according to the gauge of the bridge company.

This is said to be the first time to the knowledge of local people that the river has ever broken up during the winter after the ice has frozen thick enough to permit automobiles or other heavy vehicles to cross.

Strong Current

Mild weather over the entire Northwest caused the ice to go out. It broke at Williston three days ago, but first warning of what might happen here was received yesterday from Mannheim and Washburn. Within a few hours a seven-mile-an-hour current was carrying down the river great and small blocks of ice.

After the breaking up here it was feared that the river might become blocked with ice at Sibley Island, a few miles south, and back water over the banks, engulfing the machinery of the bridge company, but this fear was dissipated late in the afternoon.

Bridge Men Lucky

Several employees of the bridge company are thanking themselves today that they escaped with their lives. "The ice broke almost without warning," said one of them. "We knew it was coming but were working to get material away and were not looking for it so soon. There was a cracking noise and then one could feel the piling of the bridge going out from underneath."

"We ran—and I think we all made the bank in nothing flat. It seemed to be following us as we ran from the center. We would feel a section giving away from us as we passed it, and if we had delayed five seconds in starting some of us wouldn't be here today."

The bridge gave way from west to east, and the fact that the men ran to the east bank instead of the west saved their lives.

Within a short time the temporary bridge had disappeared, except for the piling around pier No. 3, a little to the west of the center of the river, and a state of ice bridge on the Mandan side where the river is very shallow and a little on the east side. Capt. I. P. Baker and O. W. Roberts received first information of the impending run of the ice. Joe Starbuck at Washburn, a Baker elevator representative and river observer, received a message from Mannheim and Capt. Baker. Both notified the bridge company.

The word was given that the river had risen nearly six feet at Washburn and there was strong current. The immense pressure began to break up the ice on down the river.

Bridge Men Get Busy
Supt. C. W. Cushman of the Foundation Company immediately began preparations to save all the material that could be saved.

O. W. Roberts, weather observer, immediately got in touch with representatives up and down the river, getting complete reports on the situation. People south of the city began to prepare for the deal of livestock allowed to roam in the lowlands along the river south of Bismarck, and Mr. Roberts' effort was to give warning to persons along the river having stock and also to avoid any damage that might result from the sudden rise of the water.

Every man employed by the bridge company responded to the call to duty on the temporary bridge. One bunch began to take up the narrow gauge railroad track on the temporary bridge. When the crash came they had succeeded in saving all of the switch track, or about 200 feet. Cars and other machinery on the temporary bridge also was saved.

Save Big Engines

There were two big hoisting engines on the ice at pier No. 3, which was being built on a sandbar. Workers slid them over the ice to the Mandan side, saving them and other machinery being used on this pier. There was apprehension after the bridge went out that the work on pier No. 3 would be destroyed or badly damaged. It was eighteen inches above the water and had been sunk eight feet into the ground. It ultimately will rest probably 75 feet under the surface of the river. Timbers around the caisson were torn away, but it was believed by Supt. Cushman that the concrete would not be dislodged.

Nothing on either bank of the river was damaged. The river rose five feet and fell six inches and rose six inches and fell six inches. It fell three inches and rose three inches. At five o'clock it was stationary, and (Continued on Page 4.)

FLIRTS WITH WIFE
HE LEFT—ALIMONY

BROOKLYN, Nov. 28.—On two occasions a man and woman sat opposite each other on an elevated train. Both times, she smiled at him, he smiled back. And both times, when they got off the train, she disappeared. Then she turned up at the home of Douglas Crankshaw and told him: "I am the woman you flirted with and I'm your wife. You the girl you married in 1913 and then deserted. I'm Mrs. Elizabeth Day now, but I haven't forgotten how you deserted the baby and me. I've been getting a warrant for your arrest every year since then and now I'm going to have it served." She did and a judge ordered Crankshaw to pay her $10 a week as long as she lived.

LEGION HOLDS
GO IN BUREAUS

Says That War Risk Insurance Bureau, Others Must Get Down to Business

Washington, Nov. 28.—Representatives of the American Legion informed officials of the war risk insurance bureau, the federal board for vocational education and the United States public health service that the legion proposed to urge measures designed to cut red tape in the bureaus and "to compel the government to function" in its dealings with discharged and disabled service men. The legion representatives who met here with the heads of the three bureaus to discuss a plan to combine the work of the bureaus made the position of the legion clear, declaring that it proposed to press for legislation abolishing the function of the three government agencies and doing away with long "winded talk about cooperation and coordination." John Sherburne of Boston, a member of the legion committee, admonished the government conference that if the proposed reorganization destroyed their present organization, "it would simply have to go ahead and destroy."

Plans for Other Work

Dr. J. W. Lavender, representing the public health service, made a plea for the continuation of "other work in the health service outside of that done for the veterans of the World War," saying that his bureau had many other functions in addition to the work with disabled veterans. "I have read every one of your appropriation bills," Mr. Sherburne replied, "and I find that the money you have spent for the soldiers' sailors' and marines is much greater than for all other purposes combined. Now, we don't want to be rough and we do not want to impair or handicap any governmental agency unnecessarily, but I will go to the limit on this. We are faced with the problem of government agencies not functioning and we do not propose to permit any single agency to stand in the way."

One Man Given Charge

Robert Marx of Cincinnati, member of the legion committee, declared it appeared each of the three agencies selected by the proposed changes was seeking to retain its separate entity, and was opposing the program solely because the concentration of the three bureaus under the direction of one responsible head. This was declared by the bureau representatives to be an incorrect representation of their position. All declared their willingness to work out a plan which would yield better results. The reorganization plan, as outlined by the legion representatives, proposed the creation of an assistant secretary in one of the executive departments, probably in the treasury, to have direct charge of the work of these bureaus having to do with service men.

FEAR ASSASSINATIONS? GOES TO COMMISSION

Police Authorities Said to Be Keeping Close Watch on Stranger's Activities

Macraoch, County Cork, Ireland, Nov. 28.—Fifteen auxiliary police cadets were killed and one other mortally wounded as the result of an ambush by 70 to 100 men near Kilmacul, southwest of here last evening. Another of the cadets is missing.

Londonderry, Nov. 29.—American gunmen are said to have made their appearance in Londonderry, Ireland, according to advices today.

The presence of these mercenaries in Dublin and other Irish cities have previously been reported. The military authorities of Londonderry are taking all precautions in the event of attempted assassinations.

The police of Londonderry, it patches said, also believe American "gunmen" have invaded Liverpool. The police claim to have established connection between Sinn Fein headquarters and numerous strangers who are moving about the streets in groups of two and three and having the appearance of desperadoes.

According to the best information added to the home secretary, the situation in Liverpool was well in hand. The allusion presumably means measures have been taken to safeguard property against further attempts at destruction.

CHARGES CONSPIRACY

Londonderry, Nov. 29.—Edward Short, the home secretary, declared in the house of commons today in reply to questions regarding Saturday's night's incendiary dock fires that there seemed no doubt that the fires were the result of an organized conspiracy in which members of the Sinn Fein party were engaged.

MOVIE SCENE

Londonderry, Nov. 29.—What at first might have been mistaken for a genuine mob on the government buildings in Whitehall was made this morning when a small crowd attempted to pass the barriers erected at the entrance of Downing street and King Charles street. The crowd, however, was made up of about 150 supernumeraries for photographic purposes. The "mob," whose attack at the barricade was a mild one, was dispersed by the police, the cameramen meantime cranking frantically.

Attorneys Transmit Decision in Letter to Members of City Commission

Company Attorneys Says Arbitration Offer Still Stands, But May Not Remain

The Bismarck Water Supply company today announced its refusal of the offer of $225,000 for its plant made by the city commission, and accompanied its announcement by a statement that it is willing to waive the city charter limit on arbitration, but that it could not be expected to keep the offer of arbitration open indefinitely.

The refusal was contained in a letter written to the city commission, on November 27, which probably will be considered by the commission tonight. The letter follows:

To the Honorable Board of City Commissioners of the City of Bismarck, North Dakota: Gentlemen:

We have to acknowledge receipt of your letter under date of November 22nd, 1920, enclosing certified copy of a certain resolution adopted as of that date, by the terms of which the city of Bismarck, upon the certain conditions therein contained, offers to purchase of the Bismarck Water Supply company its waterworks located in the city of Bismarck at a price of $225,000.

After giving the aforesaid offer due consideration we beg to advise that the Bismarck Water Supply company cannot accept the offer contained therein, either as to price or other conditions therein mentioned.

The Bismarck Water Supply company, however, is still willing, if the city of Bismarck desires to purchase its waterworks now, to waive the time limit with reference to arbitration contained in its charter from the city of Bismarck, and will sell its waterworks to the city of Bismarck at a price to be arrived at by arbitration.

FIVE MILLION
ELEVATOR TO HELP FARMERS

Minnesota Railroad Commissioner Declares Philadelphia Terminal Will Be Aid

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 29.—The 5,000,000 bushel grain elevator under construction at Philadelphia, and the proposed erection of 20,000,000 bushel capacity elevator at New York, will materially benefit farmers and other grain men of the Northwest in removing the car shortage menace, caused by a congestion at the tide-water terminals, according to O. P. H. Jacobson, railroad and warehouse commissioner, who has just returned from an eastern trip.

For many years, Mr. Jacobson explained, the Northwest has been greatly hampered in moving grain, flour and other grain products through outlets upon the Atlantic seaboard. The completion of these two enormous elevators, according to the commissioner, this hindrance of grain and other shipments will be expedited.

Enlarge Facilities

The action taken at New York and Philadelphia and the movement for similar action at other ports to enlarge the facilities for storing and handling grain and flour may be attributed directly to the persistent agitation of the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse commission, backed by the Minnesota legislature, the farmers of Minnesota and the grain interests generally. Mr. Jacobson said.

The railroad and warehouse commission for years has contended that the principal ports on the Atlantic coast from Portland, Maine, to Norfolk, Virginia, with a total elevator capacity of only 21,000,000 bushels, less than half that of either Chicago or Minneapolis, were in no position to handle the grain and flour from the West during periods of maximum freight movements.

Car Famine

This fact, Mr. Jacobson said, was brought to the attention of the public in 1916, when the "car famine" was most acute and eventually paralyzed the entire transportation system of the country. An investigation by the commission was made at that time, and it was found that thousands of freight cars loaded with grain had been held for months in the railway yards of New York and Philadelphia. However, the grain could not be unloaded, because of the lack of storage facilities, and as a consequence the railway yards became congested with freight cars which stopped transportation in the west, where elevators were filled to the bursting point.

The result of this investigation was reported to the National Association of Railway and Utilities commissioners by Mr. Jacobson, who argued that if the grain cars could be unloaded promptly on arrival at tide-water and stored in the grain country for transportation purposes instead of being held for months at a time for storage facilities, there would be little or no fear of car famine.

Mr. Jacobson at that time urged that the city or state of New York should take an initiative in the matter of building storage facilities for this surplus grain and flour, but this suggestion was pronounced as "impossible" by Commissioner J. J. Carr of New York. Nevertheless, the National Association memorialized the National Association of Manufacturers, either to provide the necessary facilities at the port terminals or to compel the railways to do so. At the request of the Minnesota commission, Senator Knute Nelson and Congressman Sidney Anderson introduced in congress identical bills designed to provide such facilities.

CONSTANTINE

Atlanta, Nov. 29.—It is probable that former King Constantine will not return at once to Greece but after the plebiscite to be held on Dec. 5 a number of deputies and ministers may go to Switzerland to meet him at the result of the vote. Every effort is being made by the royal house of Greece and Great Britain, which is taking a leading part in the negotiations, to secure that Greece is prepared to receive him.

LEGISLATORS
OF BANK LAW

Canvass Shows That Special Session of Legislature Would Fail to Change It

CANVASS VOTE TODAY

One More Bank Closes But Some to Reopen Soon—Few B. of N. D. Drafts Sent

There will be no special session of the legislature to repeal the initiated law relating to public deposits or to take up other matters unless it is called by Governor Frazier's own motion.

A canvass made of members of the legislature and bankers shows that enough are opposed to any special session or the repeal of the law to prevent either a demand upon the part of the bankers for a special session or the repeal of the law even if the session were called.

The Governor is not expected to call the session on his own motion.

Canvassing Board Meets

The state canvassing board was to meet this afternoon to canvass the vote on the initiated measures, which have occupied the limelight since the banking situation has been used by Republican league propagandists to attempt to obtain political advantage while others are asking the best cooperative efforts of everyone in the state to solve the problems faced by the state.

The board is composed of the secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, superintendent of public instruction and the attorney-general. The special meeting was called because of the provision of law that the acts become effective in 30 days after passage.

CANVASS SHOWS
THIRTY-NINE OPPOSED

Fargo, Nov. 29.—The Fargo Forum today makes the statement that there will be no special session of the legislature in regard to public funds.

The Forum says that a telephone canvass, which it made today, shows 39 members of the lower house of the state legislature are opposed to any repeal of or any change in this law.

To repeal or change this law would require a two-thirds vote of the lower house.

One More Closed

Several banks in North Dakota which have closed in the last ten days are on the verge of reopening, according to O. E. Lofthus, state examiner.

The examination of these banks has revealed no dishonesty, as far as the examination has gone, and the banks can be reopened as soon as the directors and stockholders of the banks obtain some cash and build up the depleted reserve.

At the same time, however, the examiner made public the receipts of information of the closing of the Tuck State bank in Benson county, near the Devils Lake region.

Few Drafts Sent

The Bank of North Dakota, it is understood, has sent out a few drafts on bankers calling in money to meet expected withdrawals permitted under the initiated law.

Although Mr. Cathro had said that the bank would have to withdraw large sums of money to meet expected withdrawals, and it was understood the drafts were prepared the first of last week but were not sent out as soon as expected.

The fact that the bank has sent out but few drafts is taken as an indication that it will not, as some bankers expected, withdraw hundreds of thousands, or perhaps more than a million dollars from banks in which the public funds are redeposited, in anticipation of immediate withdrawal.

Unless precipitate action is taken on the part of the Bank of North Dakota many banks feel that the situation will be disposed of nicely. They believe that enough county treasurers have stated that they will make any withdrawals of funds gradually enough to prevent precipitate action by the necessitating similar action on the part of the Bank of North Dakota.

URGED TO PAY DEBTS

Valley City, N. D., Nov. 29.—Farmers are urged by a committee of Barnes county men to sell a part of their grain and liquidate a part of their debts in a report made public here.

The committee was appointed at a recent conference of farmers and businessmen, to consider the wheat holding movement. They assert that a solution of the present situation lies in the sale by the farmer of part of his crop at least to begin the process of liquidation. The committee's report follows:

"The finance committee appointed at a recent meeting of farmers and businessmen, to consider the wheat holding movement, have been unable to accomplish their purpose, due to conditions as they exist at this time. Application was made to five life insurance companies for funds to finance the movement, but the life insurance companies are restricting loans to real estate only, and in many instances are not able to care for their increased number of applications of loans for this nature. The banks of the county are making every effort to be on as great assistance as possible, and in the (Continued on Page Two.)

AFTERMATH OF BANK SCANDAL IN LAWSUIT

Danielson Brothers Ask $172,000 Damages from Scandinavian Bank

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 27.—Papers were served here in a suit for $172,000 damages brought by Danielson brothers, farmers living near Moorhead, against the Scandinavian American bank of Fargo.

False and fraudulent representations of the strength of the bank as the plaintiffs' fiscal and financial agents in making loans to care for and protect their property from foreclosure proceedings constitute the chief allegations in the complaint.

The plaintiffs, William O. Danielson and Gunder Danielson, have secured the services of James Witherow of Moorhead, as their counsel. The papers in the action were served on H. J. Hagen, president of the bank. The case will be tried in the Clay county district court.

Allegations in Complaint

The allegations cite alleged damage in the sum of $7,000 through the misrepresentation of securities of James R. Waters; $20,000 for feeding and caring for sheep of the defendant; $75,000 in the conversion of the mortgage and securities given to protect the real estate mortgages; $50,000 by reason of the defendant's alleged neglect in permitting plaintiffs' property to be lost under foreclosure, and $20,000 in the conversion of the personal property of the plaintiffs.

The complaint alleges that on or about Aug. 5, 1918, the defendant made overtures to Danielson brothers to induce them to open an account with the bank and to abandon banking connections which Danielson brothers already had in the handling of their business and carrying on of their farming operations.

Charge False Representations

At various times and upon various occasions, the complaint charges that the Scandinavian-American bank advised Danielson brothers that it would loan them sufficient sums of money to pay all of their outstanding obligations, and would act as their fiscal agent and put all of their business and financial affairs in first class shape, and in order to accomplish its purpose the Danielson's charge that the bank "made false and fraudulent representations of the strength of its financial condition and ability to make loans to the plaintiffs and to manage and conduct their fiscal affairs and to negotiate such loans as were necessary for the proper adjustment and financing of their personal affairs and making settlements as were necessary."

Danielson brothers in their complaint, say they relied upon the representations of the bank and began doing business with that institution, and that the bank, "in order to lull the suspicions" made them a few loans in the aggregate of something like $15,000. The plaintiffs claim that the defendant finding that they were unacquainted with technical and complicated business methods and that they were implicitly relying on the financial advice and integrity of the defendant, began to take advantage of their lack of knowledge of human nature and business transactions.

Purchased Waters' Horse

The plaintiffs claim that they were first induced to purchase a trotting horse belonging to James R. Waters, then bank examiner of the State of North Dakota, and the official supervisor of the defendant, for the sum of $1,000, and to give their promissory note. A few days later they claim they were induced to accept in exchange therefore a contract for land in the western portion of North Dakota which was worthless and of little value and did induce and procure them to give additional notes in exchange therefore in the aggregate of $7,000.

The Sheep Negotiations

Another paragraph in the complaint claims that the defendant "for its individual profit and gain" on or about Oct. 16, 1918, got the plaintiffs to accept a flock of 48 sheep under the representation that they would only have to allow the sheep to run and pasture upon the grain fields until the winter season began, at which time the defendant agreed and represented that it would take the sheep off their hands and market them without delay and return to them a handsome profit for their trouble and grazing.

Despite repeated requests, the plaintiffs claim that the bank at all times refused and neglected to take the sheep until about March 1, 1920. During all the time intervening, Danielson brothers claim they were obliged to incur the duty and responsibility of feeding and caring for the sheep which was of the reasonable worth and value of $25,000.

In the capacity of fiscal agent for them, Danielson brothers claim that the bank did under the representation of consolidating the indebtedness of the plaintiffs and placing their financial affairs in a proper and business manner in accordance with the sound principles of finance, "wiffully and maliciously procure from them notes, mortgages and other securities to the amount of $125,000 and upwards between March 1, 1919 and Oct. 1, 1919." Of these securities the sum of $54,000 worth was placed with a St. Paul bank and the balance in the amount of $70,000 and upwards "converted by the defendant to its own use and benefit."

"FREE US," CRY FILIPINOS MAKE TO UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

EDITOR'S NOTE—With Isidro Gabaldon as a new resident commissioner representing the Philippines in Washington, the fight for independence of those islands is expected to be taken up in coming sessions of Congress with renewed vigor. Gabaldon, member of the Nationalist Party in the Philippines, is one of Manila's ablest lawyers and statesmen. Gabaldon wrote the following article for N. E. A., setting forth clearly what the Filipinos are asking from the United States.

BY ISIDRO GABALDON.

The time has now come when the American Congress should grant independence to the 10,500,000 inhabitants of the Philippine Islands. Such action will be to the best interest of both the Philippines and the United States.

Today the Filipino people have the greatest respect and affection for America.

If independence is granted in the near future America will always have the good-will of the Filipinos. But if America keeps putting the Filipinos off, first with one excuse and then with another, the Filipinos will ultimately feel less friendly to the American nation than they do now.

Basis of Appeal

We base our appeal on the following facts:

FIRST—In the Declaration of Independence, an immortal document, it was declared governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. We feel the United States should be willing to apply to others the same principle she insisted upon for herself.

SECOND—The American Congress, in the Jones law, supported by both Republicans and Democrats, solemnly promised the Filipinos independence.

once upon the establishment of a stable government, and our claim that the specified stable government is now in existence in the islands has been officially confirmed by America's own highest representatives there.

THIRD—The United States went before the world in the recent World War as the avowed champion of the principle of self-determination. Surely if America refuses to apply the principle to a nation of 10,500,000 people who have repeatedly requested their independence, she will be looking her present exalted position as champion of the rights of the smaller and weaker nations of the earth.

Demand Won't Die

If those opposing independence believe the agitation for it in the islands will gradually die out, they are greatly mistaken. The longer independence is withheld, the greater will be the demand for it. The desire for it is growing constantly both among the leaders and the masses.

America can make no mistake in granting independence to the Filipinos, for they are capable of maintaining a stable government, and are ready and anxious to do so. If America grants independence, the gratitude of the Filipinos will endure forever.

HOUSEBOATS SOLVE HOUSE SHORTAGE

Minneapolis, Min., Nov. 27.—There is a little colony which is not troubled by the acute housing shortage here. Its members who live in houseboats on the Mississippi river, never worry about rents or moving. When a change in scenery is wanted, the tenant pulls up anchor and drifts off to a new location.

A dozen or so of these "water residences" are pulled up against the shore below the government dam. Advance of their rents was the cause of the majority removing to house boats, it is said.

"The river saved me from further advances," is the way one tenant put it, who had had his rent raised from $20 to $35 a month.

Another remarked: "I was sick and tired of paying increasing rent and fuel bills."

STARVATION IN WAKE OF SOVIET ARMY'S VICTORY

Conditions of Refugees Along Bosphorus Appalling and Catastrophe Is Feared

Constantinople, Nov. 27.—Condition of the refugees on the 90 or more ships strung along the Bosphorus is appalling and a catastrophe is feared unless prompt measures are taken to land the thousand writhing in misery and pain. The correspondent visited several of these "floating hospitals and mad houses" today and returned with forebodings of impending calamity.

None of the refugees have been taken ashore, except the sick, diseased and insane. The latter are numerous. An unpleasant smell from the ships was apparent notwithstanding a strong, cold sea breeze.

As soon as the correspondent and his companion, an American relief officer, boarded the ships the clothing of both was virtually torn off by half-maddened refugees who begged to be taken to land.

Men, women and children are herded together promiscuously in a state of appalling filth. Many women of distinguished demerit, despite their bedraggled appearance, offered to barter their valuables, jewels and furs for a crust of bread or a glass of water. In some cases, the refugees have been without water 11 days.

The correspondent heard there had been numerous suicides. Refugees spoke of ghostly temptation and the sobbing call of the sea at night when they were dying with thirst.

The American navy is assisting in transporting sick women to hospitals and the Near East relief also has been prominent in the work. War hardened relief nurses were moved to tears by maddened mothers offering their children to visitors and the scenes of separation have been beyond description.

The death rate has been abnormal as the result of the bitter cold and lack of food. The American Red Cross is offering 30,000 ration daily and several Americans are offering donations.

U.S. GOVERNMENT IN HAITI HELD AS "OPPRESSIVE"

President of Haiti Condemns Rule—No Effective Aid for Agriculture

Port au Prince, Nov. 27.—The American civil administration in Haiti is "more oppressive than the military," President D'Artiguenave declared in a statement attacking the public service of Minister Blanchard and John M. Elmhenny, financial adviser of the Black Republic. He charged that since American occupation no effective aid had been sent to Haiti to develop its agricultural and industrial resources, as stipulated in the treaty and that no serious measure had been proposed with a view to "placing Haiti's finances on a treaty solid basis."

Mr. Elmhenny is in Washington and the minister declined to be seen. Declaring that the financial adviser as named by him on the proposal of President Wilson, is in effect a Haitian official who is paid $10,000 a year

HIS MARRIAGE PLANK ONLY A JOKE, SAYS STATE SENATOR—GOT THE VOTES

BY MABEL ABBOTT, N. E. A. Staff Correspondent

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Nov. 27.—Next time E. E. Penzel, newly-elected state senator, runs for office, he will not promise, even in joke, to get married if the women will elect him.

He was too badly scared this time. Penzel is a personable bachelor of 37, with a law office at Poplar Bluff.

It was a speech he made at from Haitian funds, the president said.

"In reality the financial adviser does not report to the Haitian government. It is the Haitian government that he pretends to submit to his sovereign will. The facts are numerous which show the omnipotence which he attributes to himself."

"Nothing can give a more striking idea of this omnipotence than the confirmation by the financial adviser, aided by the American minister, of the salaries of the president, the secretaries of state, members of the legislative council, because the government refused to insert in the contract the National Bank of Haiti, controlled by the National City Bank of New York, a clause prohibiting importation of foreign gold, which the adviser wished to impose. This (adviser) equally prevented a vote of the budget."

The adviser, the president asserted, had made no inquiry into the validity of Haitian debts, has recommended no perfected method of banking the revenues and made no recommendation for the welfare and prosperity of the republic. In the face of the "inertia of the financial adviser," the government multiplied its efforts, according to the president, who charged:

"The numerous financial projects, agricultural, educational, administrative and rural organization, meet opposition of the American officials or lie without response in the archives of the legation."

Two Aspirations

In introducing him the chairman jocularly referred to his being a single man. Penzel, not to be abashed, gallantly assured his audience he had two aspirations in line, one was to go to the Missouri senate, and the other was to acquire a wife.

"And if the women will help me in the first one," he declared, "I will consider the other."

The women voted for Penzel, all right.

Meanwhile reports of the Piedmont speech had found interested readers. The election returns were hardly in, before Penzel began to receive letters from women willing to help him carry out his contract.

At first they came from points near by; then from all over Missouri; then from other states. Some of the writers used the Leap Year privilege of direct proposal, others delicately indicated that if he would do the proposing he would not be turned down. Day by day his mail increased.

"The joke's on me," Senator Penzel told me.

So in making my campaign, I bought cigars for the men, of course, but I also bought candy for the women. # HAY AND GRAIN SHOW ATTRACTS MANY GROWERS

Number of Exhibits Is Expected to Exceed 3,000—
Corn Featured

Chicago, Nov. 28.—The International Hay and Grain Show opened here today with hundreds of farmers in the United States and Canada measuring skill for premier honors.

The United States Department of Agriculture, state agricultural colleges, state farm bureaus, corn and seed growers associations and Canadian dominion and provincial organizations have sent big exhibits. As a further incentive to crop improvement which is the object of the show, the Chicago Board of Trade will give $10,000 in cash prizes for best samples of hay and grain.

"The show will go far toward encouraging better agricultural and better country life," said Prof. G. L. Christie, Purdue University, who for several months has been directing the preliminary work. "For many years growers have felt the need of an international show where best grain and forage crops might be compared.

Premiums Offered
A thousand ten-acre samples of corn will form part of the exhibit. Premiums will be offered for single and ten-acre samples each of white and yellow corn; for exhibits of wheat, oats, barley, rye, soybeans, cowpeas and field peas and for samples of seed and hay, including red clover and sweet clover, alfalfa and timothy."

The number of exhibits is expected to exceed 3,000. The exhibit of the United States Department of Agriculture occupies 3,000 square feet of floor space. The show, which is in conjunction with the International Livestock Exposition, will continue a week.

States sending especially large exhibits include Michigan, Missouri, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Iowa, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Minnesota, Montana and Ohio. Louisiana is sending the chief exhibits of her state fair for the purpose of showing progress being made in the growing of rice, sugarcane and cotton.

MORE EVIDENCE MAY BE GIVEN IN LAYER CASE

Judge Gives Attorneys 30 Days in Which to File More Affidavits

Attorneys who appeared in the Henry Layer case in district court Saturday have 30 days in which to file additional affidavits in the case. This time was given them by Judge W. L. Neeve, at the conclusion of an all day hearing.

The court intimated to the attorneys that unless more convincing evidence could be produced there was no justification for granting the plea of Layer to withdraw his plea of guilty and to stand trial on the charge of murdering Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Wolf five children and a chore boy at Turtle Lake last April.

During the session State's Attorney John Williams, of Washburn, who with Attorney-General Langer opposed the Layer promotion, presented additional affidavits from neighbors bearing on the case.

Mr. Williams expressed the opinion that the finding of the package containing a woman's bloody dust cap, a mask and another piece of cloth, wrapped in oilcloth, had no material bearing on the case. He said that nothing had risen since the sentence of Layer to indicate that he was not guilty as he confessed.

CITY OFFER ON WATER COMPANY PLANT REFUSED

tration in accordance with the terms of its charter, provided the city of Bismarck desires to purchase in this manner, and is ready immediately, or as soon as may be, to enter into articles of arbitration.

We have the honor to remain, Yours respectfully,
Miller, Zuger & Tillotson,
Attorneys for Bismarck Water Supply Company.

Miller's Statement
In further explanation of the company's stand, Andrew Miller, attorney for the Bismarck Water Supply company, made the following statement.

"The water controversy between the city and the water company from the company's viewpoint has narrowed down to the simple question of arbitrate or no city owned waterworks now. Under the provisions of ordinance number 268, passed October 15th, 1915, the water company's franchise was extended until May 26th 1935. Under the provisions of this ordinance the city is not entitled to acquire the waterworks until May, 1935. If, at the expiration of the franchise in May, 1935, the city desires to acquire the waterworks it may do so under the following provisions of said franchise:

"Said Bismarck Water Supply company * * * as further consideration for the extension of said license, franchise and contract, agrees to and with said city of Bismarck that at the expiration of said extended period to-wit, May 26th, 1935, it will, at the option of said city of Bismarck, sell and convey to said city said system of waterworks as the same may exist at said time including reservoirs, mains and pipes, pumps, pumping stations and all the property used in connection therewith, at and for the fair value of the same, provided that notice in writing of its desire to exercise said option shall be given by said city to said Bismarck Water Supply company, its successors or assigns, at least six months previous to said May 26th, 1935 * * *

In case said Bismarck Water Supply company * * * and said city of Bismarck cannot agree on the fair value of said property ninety days before said May 26th, 1935, then and in that event the said fair value shall be fixed by arbitration. Said Bismarck Water Supply company * * * and said city of Bismarck shall each choose one disinterested person to act as arbitrator, neither of whom shall be residents of the county of Burleigh, state of North Dakota, which said arbitrator shall, after such examination and investigation as they may deem necessary for the purpose, fix the fair value of the said property so to be taken over. The award of said arbitrators shall be final and conclusive upon the parties. In case the said arbitrators are unable to agree upon such valuation within sixty days after their appointment, they shall choose a third disinterested person who shall not be a resident of said county of Burleigh, state of North Dakota, to act as an arbitrator with them. In case said two arbitrators originally chosen shall be unable to agree upon a third arbitrator, within ten days after the expiration of said sixty days from the date of their appointment, said third arbitrator shall be selected by a judge of the United States District Court for the District of North Dakota * * *

The said third arbitrator or so to be selected not being a resident of the county of Burleigh, state of North Dakota, and to be a disinterested person. * * * The award and valuation of any two of said three arbitrators so chosen shall be final and conclusive upon the parties as to the fair value of the said property so to be acquired by the city. The expense of such arbitration, including the compensation of the arbitrators, shall be borne equally by said Bismarck Water Supply company and said city of Bismarck."

Court Decree
The United States District Court of North Dakota has decided that the city cannot acquire the property by condemnation proceedings. Arbitration, then, is the only method left by which the city can obtain the company's property. The company is willing, if the city commission is sincere in its desire to acquire the waterworks at this time, and honestly believes that the price offered by it is a fair price, it should not be afraid to join the company in submitting the question to a board of disinterested appraisers, and to be bound by the award.

"The water company, however, under no circumstances will permit any private individual or individuals to acquire its property. It is not for sale except to the city. Neither can the company be expected to leave its offer to arbitrate open indefinitely."

opinion of the committee, the solution of this problem rests upon an inclination on the part of the farmer and businessman to co-operate; the farmer willing to sell a portion of his crop immediately and pay up in part, and the businessman willing to co-operate by accepting a part payment at this time.

"The committee has held four meetings and has worked diligently, and has made every effort to provide a solution. The plan mentioned by this committee has spread to other counties, and much good will eventually materialize from the activities of this committee."

Dakota are sound. South Dakota and Montana should be little affected by the North Dakota situation.

"One of the big reasons for North Dakota being up against it is the fact that many people and investing concerns were practically invited by the Nonpartisan league to leave the state. Some of the institutions that have closed have been spread out too far for several years."

Release for Women who Suffer

The multitude of American women who suffer terribly day after day and year after year from ills peculiar to their sex is almost beyond belief,—yet there is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman, and often many, do not reside who have been restored to health from some of the worst forms of female ills, and often avoided operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

These Two Women Tell of Their Experience.

Carrollton, Ky.—"I suffered almost two years with female weakness. I could not walk any distance, ride or take any exercise at all without resting. If I swept the floor or did any kind of work it would bring my sickness on. I was weak and languid, had no energy, and life was a misery to me. I was under the care of a good physician for several months and tried other remedies. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking twelve bottles I found myself much improved and I took six more. I have never had any more trouble in that respect since. I have done all kinds of work and at present am an attendant at a State Hospital and am feeling fine. I shall always recommend your Vegetable Compound."—LETTIAN THARP, 824 South 8th Street, Carrollton, Ky.

Onalaska, Wis.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of stomach I could not lie in bed. I suffered so it seemed as though I would die, and I was not regular either. I suffered for a year and was unfit to do my housework, could only wash dishes once in a while. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women and decided to try it. It surely did wonders for me. I have no pains now and can do my own housework without any trouble at all. I will always praise your medicine as I do not believe there is a doctor that can do as much good for female weakness as can Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. LESTER E. WARNER, R. 1, Box 99, Onalaska, Wis.

'MESPO' OIL NOT DEVELOPED

Necessity for Importing Foreign Labor is a Bar to Investment of Capital.

Mesopotamia is a rich field for oil, but the only wells in operation are a few sunk before the war by the Arabs. Not that the British need the Mesopotamian wells at present, they have more than they can use. But they are not even prospecting for it, nor are they allowing two representatives of a famous oil company of our own to prospect, though the American oil comes in by Abadan and is sold at something less than the Persian oil.

One reason among many why big capitalists are not received here with open arms when they come forward with some big scheme for the country is that they generally begin by saying: "We must import labor."

Now the labor difficulty is serious here. Arabs are not very keen on get-

POOR, BUT EXPENSIVELY CLAD
Siberian Native in Winter Wears a Costume That is Worth Many Hundreds of Dollars.

Although "poverty poor," the average native of Siberia wears during the winter a dress that would be worth many hundreds of dollars in the United States, consisting as it does of valuable furs, and representing many antiques, the choicest fur only being woven into the garments. A recent writer describes the dress as follows:

"The dress of the Kamchadale in winter and summer is made for the most part of skins. Their winter costume consists of seal-skin called tokbassa, worn over heavy reindeer stockings, and coming to the knee; fur coats maximum and minimum temperatures, which it can be ascertained when it is safe to enter mines sealed to another fire. Hitherto it has been a problem to know when to enter the shafts, but with the thermometer dropped through a hole in the barricade this can be determined easily.

The carbon monoxide detector is considered the most important piece of apparatus from the point of protecting the lives of rescuers. The gas is detected by a color tube and a color scale on the instrument. Formerly quinine bulbs were used, but their use was not entirely satisfactory, as the bulbs often succumbed to other gases, while a color detector instrument shows no other gas than carbon monoxide present. One-tenth of 1 per cent of the gas is said to be fatal to a human being.

WORTH THE SUM EXPENDED

Records Show That Columbus' Memorable Voyage Cost Promoters and Participants Very Little.

The cost of the discovery of America by Columbus was but a little over $7,000, the old story to the effect that Queen Isabella parted with many of her finest jewels to the contrary. Two of the three ships that made that wondrous voyage, the Pinta and the Nina, were captained by two brothers, Martin and Vicente Pinzon, and they paid all the expenses attached to these ships, as well as furnishing the crews themselves. The account books of the Pinzons show that Columbus in his capacity of commander received 1,500 pesetas a year, or about $300. The sailors received the magnificent sum of $250 a month, or about 8 cents a day.

The cannons for all three ships cost 14,000 pesetas, or about what it would cost to fire one of our modern big guns, while the whole outfit and the wages of the sailors came to only 36,000 pesetas. The accounts cover the time between August, 1492, to March 1493. The queen's share is believed to have been less than $2,000, and even at the valuation placed on jewels at that period, it would not have been many or large ones to raise this sum.

Another "Oldest Man."

Red Cross physicians at Constantinople after looking up every available record are said to be convinced that Zora, born at Bitlis, Armenia, early in 1775, is the oldest man in the world. He went to Constantinople when a youth, married at eighteen, lost his wife, married again and was the father of 15 children. His only surviving son is ninety-six years old. For a century, the sturdy Kurd made a comfortable living as a hawker or street bearer. He is now employed as a cupbearer (janitor) at the artillery arsenal at Top-Hane. His health has failed somewhat, and he complains bitterly against the doctors who have had much trouble forcing him to live on milk and milk foods.

MEET AFTER 44 YEARS

Brothers Separated Almost Half a Century Are Reunited.

After being separated 44 years, each having the other dead, Patrick Ryan, aged 81, and John Ryan, aged 81, met at a hotel in New York. An Irishman had been in the Old Soldiers' Home, Dayton, a short time ago, ascertaining that his brother was in the home. Peter of this city wrote him a postcard giving his local address. Patrick came here to visit him, but lost the address. He appealed at police headquarters, and after a search lasting almost all day found Peter in the Union Union, where the reunion took place.

GAS DETECTOR ADDED TO MINE RESCUE TOOLS

West Virginia Bureau Makes Greater Provision for Safety in Saving Entombed Men.

The West Virginia bureau of mines, which is credited by experts with the best equipment in the country for rescuing entombed miners, has just added to its outfit for that work three new pieces of apparatus—a telephone, a carbon monoxide detector and a brass incased thermometer.

The telephone is similar to a physical stethoscope. As the stethoscope is used to detect irregularities in the human body by sound, so the telephone is used to detect earth sounds. In this way entombed miners can be located by noting the direction from which the sound vibrations come.

The brass incased thermometer records maximum and minimum temperatures, which it can be ascertained when it is safe to enter mines sealed to another fire. Hitherto it has been a problem to know when to enter the shafts, but with the thermometer dropped through a hole in the barricade this can be determined easily.

The carbon monoxide detector is considered the most important piece of apparatus from the point of protecting the lives of rescuers. ## EAST DIVIDES ALL-AMERICAN GRID HONORS

Snyder's Selection Gives West Even Break in Coveted Places

BIGGEST YEAR OF GAME

BY DEAN SNYDER

Modern football has come into full blossom during the season of 1929, now drawn to a close.

It has been the biggest year the game has ever known. Record crowds have filled the stadiums throughout the country. Increased enthusiasm has been shown everywhere and many great players have come to light by their spectacular and thrilling performances on the gridiron.

Picking an All-American eleven—a mythical eleven that has never played together and perhaps never will at best but a hazardous attempt to include men representative of what an ideal eleven should be composed of.

All over America sporting writers are engaged in this fantastic and more or less futile pastime. The practice of proclaiming that any one of two players are best in their respective positions is nearly as time-honored, however, as the gridiron game itself. And it seldom leads to anything more definite than promoting endless argument by football enthusiasts all over the country as to the superior merit of their favorites over those selected by the nifty pickers of All-American teams.

In a sense, the game has surprised and interested the public. The footballing public has its conception of the great American collegiate sport broadened as never before.

All-American teams used to be picked for the most part from among members of the Yale, Harvard and Princeton eleven. Gradually and tardily smaller colleges in the east produced football players who by sheer power and individual brilliancy challenged recognition on this purely American game.

War brought together almost all the football players of high school and college and it was not unusual for high school stars to play alongside college heroes without discredit to the former. Service teams abounded and did much to promote morale for players and soldier spectators alike. Thus it was possible for followers of the game to see by actual demonstration that a tackle like Tolbert of Oklahoma was as good or better than the best in the army. From any of the big three teams of the east in fact, it was the superiority of Tolbert on the champion service team in France that led to his abandonment of Oklahoma for Harvard, where he has become an outstanding player on one of the most powerful teams ever developed at that institution.

With this discovery, made entirely through army football during the war, that the cream of football material of the land was not confined to the big three, came a liberalization in the picking of mythical All-American teams.

It is with a firm belief that the east has no corner on the best material and that the middle and far west and the south have every cause to be proud of their individual gridiron heroes, we present an All-American team that we feel is thoroughly representative of the country as a whole and is composed of players who, as individuals, possess the ability to play together and do all that an ideal football team is supposed to do.

WHEAT GROWERS OF McLEAN IN ORGANIZATION

Garrison, N. D., Nov. 29.—The Wheat Growers Association of the United States of America now has an active organization in McLean county. At a meeting held here under the direction of organizer D. C. Murley of Oklahoma an organization was formed and the following officers elected:

Aug. S. Johnson, pres.; Frank Josephson, and B. O. Everson, directors; Aug. P. Johnson, Otto L. Lehuus and S. W. Johanna, delegates to the Fargo convention on Nov. 30; B. O. Everson, County manager.

The purpose set forth by Organizer Murley are: first, gain actual farmers' statistics on expense of producing one bushel of wheat in each local county, state and group of states. Second, market wheat through a sales department whose work shall be to market wheat as needed at the mills and so prevent it from getting into the hands of speculators and gamblers. Third, with the aid of local banks to obtain the backing sufficient to hold the wheat until a fair market price is available.

Montana Town Plans Wireless Telephone Service

Minot, N. D., Nov. 29.—Without telephone wires for inter-city communication, the Commercial club of the city of Minot plans to solve the difficulty through establishment of a wireless telephone service, according to Max F. Kemper, formerly of Minot, but now a resident of the Montana City.

The wireless telephone system, Mr. Kemper said, is planned to connect Loveloy, Zortman, Phillips, Landusky, Lonsome and several other inland towns, as well as a number of large ranches within a radius of sixty miles of Malta.

It is planned to have the "circuit" operate at certain periods each day with Malta as the central station. All important news, business transactions and important messages of every nature will be taken care of.

With no telephone service, communication between the towns is uncertain, especially in the winter, and with the exception of Malta, all are inland towns and mail service in the winter frequently is delayed.

Mr. Kemper is chairman of the committee of the Malta Commercial club which is endeavoring to establish the wireless telephone system. He has had considerable experience with wireless and was the first amateur wireless operator to install a station in this section of the country. This was installed twelve years ago while Kemper was in school here.

Mr. Gustafson came to Bismarck in 1928 to take up the county agricultural work, and his work has attracted attention outside of the county, as well as winning the praise of farmers of this county.

Before coming to Bismarck Mr. Gustafson formed in Minnesota. He is a graduate of the North Dakota agricultural college of the class of 1914. It is understood that the county commissioners have named one in mind as a successor to Mr. Gustafson.
